1. Read and match.

Read the clues and draw a line to match the clue to the correct picture.

Clue 1

I wear a top hat and a smart black jacket. I can make things disappear with my wand.

Who am I?

Clue 2

I wear old clothes that are starting to disintegrate. They are discoloured from the sun and mud. I scare away the birds and have straw for hair.

Who am I?

Clue 3

I am in discomfort because of my sore leg. I dislike going to the vets, even though they help me feel better. I wag my tail when I come out.

Who am I?

Clue 4

I disagreed about who had the top first. I thought it was disrespectful when she tried to snatch it from me. I disliked that she wouldn't let go.

Who am I?

Focus: adding dis-*1. Read the story.Highlight all of the words that contain the prefix dis-.dis-

Herbert was a fish. He was a very, very grumpy fish. Perhaps the grumpiest fish in the whole sea! He always seemed discontented and disappointed.

Each morning, when Herbert woke up, he would swim outside to find some breakfast.

"Good morning, Herbert!" the other fish would call cheerfully.

But Herbert would disagree with them.

"It isn't a good morning for me," he would complain. "I am in a lot of discomfort. My seaweed bed was very uncomfortable and my fins are sore."

The other fish would sigh and shake their heads.

"Why is he always so grumpy?" they asked.

Herbert disliked it when the current was too strong and he got carried off. He disliked it when the sun was too bright and, above all, he disliked it if a shark tried to eat him. He always seemed to be discontented and in a bad mood.

One day, a new fish appeared in Herbert's bit of sea. Her name was Helena and as soon as Herbert saw her, he fell head over tail in love. From that day on, Herbert was never grumpy again. All of his grumpiness had disappeared and he was a happy fish at long last.

2. Write the prefix or root word.

Complete the table by adding the root word or the prefix.
