| Focus Task: The Alps Research some of the plants and animals that live in the alpine environments. How are they adapted to live in the mountains? | Explore Visit a mountain. Take some photographs of different mountain landforms you spot.                                                                        | Poetry Write an acrostic poem about the changing weather on a mountain. Try to use a variety of figurative language features to help bring your mountain poem to life.                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Creative Create a 3D mountain model. Consider using playdoh, cardboard, paper, Lego or any other material of your choice.                         | Volcanoes Research a volcano. Try to include the name, location, the type of volcano, the altitude, 3 features, the condition and when it most recently erupted. | Towel Investigation Make your own fold mountain - place five small towels on top of each other and place a heavy book on each end of the towel stack. Each towel represents a layer of sedimentary rock. Slowly, push the books together. The towels will crumple to create folds. This is similar to the process that created the Himalayas. |
