

Placing Commas in Sentences

Someone has stolen all the commas!

Write out these sentences and put the commas in the right place.

1. “Generally I eat my breakfast before going in the shower” admitted Julie.
2. Sophie went shopping for her party which she was really excited about and bought chocolate cupcakes cocktail sausages and paper plates.
3. Flora opened the huge heavy book and began reading “It had been a long morning.”
4. Suddenly the huge beautiful bird stuck its beak into the sand to search for food.
5. Claire lifted the tiny silver ring out of its velvet square box and placed it on her finger excitedly.
6. Carefully Si placed a contact lens in each eye and then rushed out of the door at speed.
7. “Can we postpone until tomorrow?” questioned the tired frustrated councillor.
8. The rocking chair which was stood over by the fireplace had just been painted light blue.
9. The old tree that had only one branch left was infested with woodworm.
10. Eventually despite the fact it was raining Mrs Gladstone finally opened the classroom door to let the children in.

Placing Commas in Sentences

Someone has stolen all the commas!

Write out these sentences and put the commas in the right place.

1. “Generally, I eat my breakfast before going in the shower,” admitted Julie.
2. Sophie went shopping for her party, which she was really excited about, and bought chocolate, cupcakes, cocktail sausages and paper plates.
3. Flora opened the huge, heavy book and began reading, “It had been a long morning.”
4. Suddenly, the huge, beautiful bird stuck its beak into the sand to search for food.
5. Claire lifted the tiny, silver ring out of its velvet, square box and placed it on her finger excitedly.
6. Carefully, Si placed a contact lens in each eye and then rushed out of the door at speed.
7. “Can we postpone until tomorrow?” questioned the tired, frustrated councillor.
8. The rocking chair, which was stood over by the fireplace, had just been painted light blue.
9. The old tree, that had only one branch left, was infested with woodworm.
10. Eventually, despite the fact it was raining, Mrs Gladstone finally opened the classroom door to let the children in.